

Does the gift of discernment still exist today when dealing with spirits (see 1 Corinthians 12: 10)?

My answer would be, well I should hope so. We need every help we can get, don't we? And some men have been given by God the power of discernment that all is not well in certain situations. When Satan himself can turn himself into an angel of light, it needs sometimes God-given discernment to detect that 'something is not right here: this is false doctrine actually.' Sometimes it is difficult for people at large to see it is false doctrine and it requires God-given discernment.

About the Author

DAVID W. GOODING (1925-2019) was Professor of Old Testament Greek at Queen's University Belfast and a member of the Royal Irish Academy. He taught the Bible internationally and lectured on both its authenticity and its relevance to philosophy, world religions and daily life. He published scholarly articles on the Septuagint and Old Testament narratives, as well as expositions of Luke, John, Acts, Hebrews, the New Testament's use of the Old Testament, and several books addressing arguments against the Bible and the Christian faith. His analysis of the Bible and our world continues to shape the thinking of scholars, teachers and students alike.
